HOSPITAL NEEDS MORE ROOM

Nurses home as storage space

Altona Hospital is drastically short of space.

In fact, the amount of equipment the hospital can buy is limited by the storage space available.

At present equipment is stored in vacant rooms at the nurses home. More vitally needed apparatus is kept in the hospital corridors.

The corridors and wards are also used as recovery rooms for patients after operations.

However, the hospital has gained Hospitals and Charities Commission approval for a recovery
room, which is due to be in use by the end of the year.

In his annual report,
the manager-secretary of the hospital, Mr P. G.
Dwyer, said the present
use of corridors and rooms for recovery is
"something that is highly undesirable for all concerned."

"Apart from the need to conserve money for the recovery room project and storeroom, the amount of equipment we could buy was limited by storage space available.

"The matter of storage space is something that has still not been resolved. Although we have made extensive use of va-

another ward to replace ward 8.

"This ward could then be converted to a storage
and pathology collection area," Mr Dwyer said.

Mr Robert Stringer,
president of the hospital, described the shortage of space as "critical".

He said "positive action" would soon be taken to alleviate the situation through the commission.

OPERATIONS UP

Mr Stringer said insufficient bed space was limiting the number of operations being performed at Altona.

"During the year a record number of operations — 1084 — were performed, an increase of 30 per cent. over last year.

"The daily bed average of 19.8 for the year represents 79 per cent. of the hospital's 25 bed capacity.

"This is quite a high average when some beds for emergencies have to be set aside," he said.

"The hospital treated a total of 1440 patients
during the year.

Of this number, 790
were from Altona and 169 from Werribee. Other patients came from as far afield as Doncaster and Nurmurkah, with one obstetrics case from NSW.

"The cost for in-patient treatment, per day rose from $49 last year to $70
this year, with the average cost for a five-day stay rising from $269 to $353.

"The number of births recorded at the hospital was 263, one less than last year. The birth rate has been steadily decreasing since 1971/72,
when 336 were recorded."

Pottery classes run by the Altona Arts Advisory Council at Altona North High School are at under way at the school.

The classes are held each Monday under the direction of Miss Barbie James.

Miss Olive Hamilton,
principal of the school
said yesterday she hoped the classes
would be a forerunner
to "bigger and better activities next year".

"The facilities of the school have been paid for by taxation — and I hope the community
will use them," she said.

"It is not necessarily desirable that the school organise activities, but we do want
the community to discuss with us activities
they would like to see here."

The school opens its library to the public on Monday and Thursday until 6.15 p.m., when books, magazines and newspapers may be read by the public.

No borrowing is permitted yet, because of the limited number of books available, but the school hopes that as stocks increase, borrowing can be introduced.

"At present the number of people using the library is disappointing, but this may be because so few people know about it,"
Miss Hamilton said.

their Monday night

Playground to go ahead

A deputation of residents objecting to a plan for a playground in Altona North met councillors recently to air their views — and left agreeing with the council proposal.

The residents, from Delphin
and Amaranth Avenues, objected to the land, which fronts both streets, being used for anything other than an infant welfare centre or kindergarten.

Before meeting councillors their argument,
against the playground proposal were the narrowness of the site the present level of noise,
and an expected increase in property damage.

The land measures 51
ft. by 280 ft.

Some residents believed that the council should sell the property for housing
if a kindergarten or infant welfare centre is not to be built.

Six residents met councillors to discuss the proposal.

They were told that,
due to the small number of young children in the area, a kindergarten or welfare centre was no longer needed.

Mr. L. Sutton, of Delphin Avenue and Mr
Gagemi, of Amaranth
Avenue, led the deputation.

Mr. Sutton told councillors teenagers
presently used the land
for football and cricket
and complaints to the police had brought little result.

Mr. Gangemi said
property had been damaged when youths used
the area to play sport or
"to congregate."

They said the site is too
narrow for ball games,
but it would be feasible
for council to instal
limited playground equipment at either end of the land and to plant trees
and to keep the area well mown. Signs could also be erected prohibiting ball games.

The deputation also suggested that higher boundary fences would help protect property.

Mr. Sutton, who praised a playground area in Gamon Street Yarraville
where playground equipment and trees preclude ball games said a similar development would be accepted by the deputation.

The six residents spent a half-hour with the councillors before leaving.

Cr. Les Crofts (the Mayor) and Cr. Steve Clement (holder of the youth and recreation portfolio) successfully moved that the city engineer Mr. Ralph Simmons draw up plans for development of the site.

He has been asked to discuss his plans with the directors, and to report back to council.

Appeal for dead cabbie's family

West Suburban Taxis are running an appeal for the family of murdered cabbie,
Mr. Carmelo Sagona.

Mr. Sagona, of Blinn Street, Altona North, a driver for West Suburban,
was killed on Wednesday,
October 6.

Mr. Ken Tilley, a director of the company and president of the firm's social club, said he was trying to raise money for Sagona's wife and daughter, who is still at school.

"Anyone who wants to help out can donate to the taxi depot at 117 Buckley Street, or the social club at 474 Black-shaws Road, Altona
North," he said.

"Any cheques should be made payable to the West Suburban Taxis Social Club and sent to either of the two above addresses."

Signs get OK from ROSTA

The Road Safety and Traffic Authority has approved Metcom signs for intersections with McArthur Road in Altona North.

Stop signs and their associated double white-line markings will be installed at the following approaches to McArthur's Road:

Borrack Square, Duke Street, Cooper Avenue, Glinfer Avenue, Chambers Road (both north and south approaches).

The work, which will be carried out by the council's engineering department, must conform to ROSTA specifications.

A representative of the authority will be present for the "spotting out" of the signs.

\$1 million to repay \$ $\frac{1}{2}$ million loan

Williamstown Council will pay more than $1 million over the next 15 years for a loan of $500,000 from the Commonwealth Saving Bank.

The loan will bear interest at a rate of 10.7 per cent, and the council will make half-yearly repayments of $33,834.80.

Damage claim

Mr. T. S. Clarke, of Challis Street, Newport, has lodged a damage claim against the council. Mr. Clarke says that damage occurred to his property when the council allegedly blocked off a house drain into the street.

The director of the environment, Mr. Garnet Price, is preparing a report for the council's insurance brokers.

Rail museum

Mr. Price will also investigate and report to council on the need for parking restrictions at the entrance to the railway museum in Champion Road.

The Australian Railway Historical Society, asked for council action after a "little girl dashed out of the gate onto the road, and was nearly knocked down by a car."

The society said vehicles parked opposite the entrance gate, and visitors had to walk onto the road.

Paisley Hearing

The Board of Works will re-hear all objections to the Housing Commission's plans for a residential estate on the old SEC briquette dump at Altona North.

Williamstown's statutory planner will represent the council, which, with Altona Council, Petroleum Refineries and the Environment Protection Authority, objects to the proposal.

The hearing will be held on October 19. The land involved is bounded by Ross and Blenheim Roads and Mills and Mason Streets.

A former application for the estate presented to the Board by the Commission, was refused after objections were heard. The Commission has now redrawn plans for the housing project, with a buffer zone being provided between the housing and neighboring industry.

Caltex appeal

Another hearing, to be heard later this year on a date to be fixed, will be attended by Crs. Ron Dawes, Simon West and Graham Proctor.

The Town Planning Appeals Tribunal will hear Caltex Oils appeal against the council's refusal to allow an oil storage tank to be erected at Burleigh Street in Newport.

'Appalling'

Williamstown Conservation and Planning Society has written to the council complaining of the "appalling condition of Kororoit Creek Road, which is a major feeder road into the city."

The society asks that "something be done to beautify the surrounds, as at the moment they present a very poor picture of Williamstown and its council."

The matter was referred to the environment director for a report to south ward councillors.

Training for emergency

By the Rev. Laurance Slee

The Williamstown City Council sent me to the National Emergency College at Mt. Macedon for a two-week's course in emergency welfare instructing. This is the first of a short series reporting to the community.

A cyclonic storm hit Brighton, Victoria, in the 1890s. Yes, Brighton.

A cyclonic storm in our own private bay. It can happen here. Tucked away on the protected side of our large Australia we can be taken by surprise.

Remember the West Gate Bridge (1970)? and the Hobart Bridge (1975).

Remember the Lara fires (1968) and the flash flood in Bourke Street just a few years ago?

Don't rule out earthquakes, for there are barely noticeable trembles going on that only delicate machines can detect. It only takes a big one to make a Meckering.

The train derailment at Laverton this year was bad enough but it could have been worse.

I'm not trying to scare but I am trying to say "These can and do happen."

We can also be called on to lend a prepared hand to those in real trouble.

That is what emergency welfare is — the lending of a prepared hand in time of real need for a large number of people who need help immediately.

In these short articles I will stress this point of being ready with planned help to ourselves or to our neighbors.

New names for streets in Willi?

Mr. Garnet Price, Williamstown's environment director, has asked councillors to consider changing the names of several streets within the city.

He said 14 anomalies exist in street naming and council consider making changes to the following:

- Mary Street, Spotswood, is noticeably offset on each side on Melbourne Road and it is considered better to give the section between Melbourne Road and George Street a new name.
- Percy and Junction Streets are continuous and it is felt that only one name is needed.
- On our boundary with Altona, Blenheim Road and Hansen Street are continuous, and a single name would be more convenient.
- Thorpe and Clyde streets are continuous and one name would be more preferable.
- Basil and Carmen streets are continuous, a single name would be preferable.
- The same plan should be adopted with Monmouth and Salisbury streets, Severn and Crocker streets, Swanston and Bayview streets, Effingham Road and Irving Street, Elgin street and Waltham Road, Alma Terrace, Queen and Renne streets, Morris and Ann streets, south of the railway line.
- Rosshire Road, Jubilee Street and Champion Road are continuous, and it is felt that the name Champion Road should apply to all three. Consideration should also be given to discussing with Altona the renaming of Ross Road in that suburb to Champion Road.
- Morris Street is continuous with Hamner Street, and it is thought a single name like Hamner Crescent would be more appropriate.

YOUR RATES AT WORK

The Altona city engineer, Mr. Ralph Simmons, reported the following municipal works throughout the district at last week's meeting of councillors:

Victoria Street, construction between North Avenue and Queen Street: Spreading and consolidation of fine crushed rock 150 mm thick, for the intermediate course was completed between North Avenue and Queen Street.

Pearl Street: Levelling of nature strips and spreading of soil was completed.

Swimming pool at Lynch Reserve: Concrete work for internal flooring was completed. Carpentry work for the ceiling and fixing of window frames was continued. Brickwork at the eastern end of the building was continued.

Grant Reserve: Construction of kerb and channelling at the intersection of Blue-gum and Sugar-gum Avenues was completed. Cement stabilised fine crushed rock for the intermediate course of the pavement was spread and consolidated.

Crofts Reserve: The laying of bricks for walling on the first floor of the pavilion is in progress. The fitting of doors and windows is in progress.

Piping, control valves and sprinklers for automatic watering of the main oval were installed. Removal of trench excavation material and tidying of the oval is in progress. Excavation of trenches for water piping to be installed in the northern oval is in progress.

Senior Citizens Club building: The installation of heating-cooling equipment to enable the temperature in the Senior Citizens Club to be regulated is in progress.

Drain aired in Parliament

A drain in North Williamstown under the control of the Board of Works, is breaking Environment Protection Authority rules, and Mr. Alex Knight, MLC, has asked in parliament that it be fixed.

Mr. Knight told Parliament, "The drain is discharging contrary to the requirement of the EPA."

"I do not know why the Minister for Conservation is allowing this to occur."

"I am concerned about my constituents and I am worried about the skeletons in the Williamstown cemetery."

"The protals of the cemetery have suffered some damage by slime."

"I ask the Board of Works to enclose the drain and request the EPA to do something about the discharges from the railway workshops."

"The people of Williamstown are very concerned about this matter."

The Minister for Water Supply, Mr. Granter said he would raise the problem with the Board of Works.

Shops complex plan grows

The shopping complex planned for the Humes Quarry site in Millers Road, Altona North, has grown by 21,000 square feet to 155,000 square feet.

The extra space, if approved by the Board of Works, will be used to house several more "speciality shops".

The developers of the site have told Altona Council they will pay for road widening and improvement around the complex if the council will agree to the additional shopping area.

The council has agreed to the move and advised the Country Roads Board and Board of Works. Explaining the 'bargain', the developers' consulting engineers, O'Connor and Beveridge Pty. Ltd. told the council: "Our clients have long had some concern that the number of speciality shops (as distinct from K-mart and Coles supermarket) in the proposed development, is too small to provide an adequate mixture of tenancies.

"The additional space will enable the centre to provide better discount store and speciality shop facilities for the expanded population will believe will be served, in view of the development of the Notia and Altona Meadows areas."

The firm said that if a town-planning permit is issued for the additional shops and a car-park ratio of seven spaces for 1000 square feet of shops, the developers would meet the cost of:

- A deceleration lane in Millers Road South of the centre's entrance.

- Traffic signals in Millers Road south of the centre's entrance.

- Widening of Duosa Road, from Langsham Street to Millers Road.

- Channelisation of the Duosa-Millers Road intersection.

- Widening of Beuron Road from the service vehicle entrance to Millers Road.

● Dr. John Refshauge, new president of the Williamstown Hospital Board of Management.

Refshauge hospital president

Dr. John Refshauge has been elected president of the Williamstown Hospital board of management.

He replaces Mr. Lindsay Caithness, who has been president of the board for the past 10 years. Mr. Caithness did not seek re-election.

Mr. Caithness has been on the board since 1945, and was a leader in the campaign to build the Hazeldean Home for the Frail Aged, due to be opened in Osborne Street in December.

Dr. Refshauge served with the RAAF during World War II. After leaving the service he graduated in medicine from Melbourne University in 1951.

He is an ear, nose and throat specialist in practice in Victoria Street, Williamstown, and is also on the visiting medical staff of the Alfred and St. Francis Xavier Cabrini hospitals.

He has been on the Williamstown Hospital Board since September, 1965, and has been vice-president since 1974.

When the hospital was seeking to develop its involvement in resident medical-officer training, and extend domiciliary and paramedical service, and among his other duties Dr. Refshauge then took up the appointment of honorary medical director.

He held this position until the recent appointment of Dr. D. G. Brophy.

Apart from his interests at Williamstown Hospital, Dr. Refshauge is also involved with sports medicine, the Western Geriatric Society, the Sunshine Hospital and Medical Services Complex, the Lord Mayor's Portsea Camp and the National Fitness Council of Victoria.

Tribute to Frank Lovegrove

A minute's silence was held before Williamstown's Council meeting last Monday night for the late Mr. Frank Lovegrove.

Mr. Lovegrove, who was in his early sixties, died early on Monday morning. He was a Williamstown councillor from 1963 to 1963, after beating Cr. Alwyn Parker, an independent.

An endorsed ALP candidate for the centre ward election, Mr. Lovegrove was later beaten by fewer than 20 votes when standing for re-election in 1963.

He gave up his post as assistant secretary of the Clothing Trades Union last year.

Before he and his wife, Chris, moved to Mitcham from Power Street, Williamstown.

North, about five years ago, Mr. Lovegrove was an umpire with the Williamstown-Altona-Footscray Cricket Association. He had also been secretary of the Williamstown branch of the ALP.

Cr. Ron Dawes, of Williamstown, said Mr. Lovegrove was "a man full of go and life".

"He was one of those men liked by everyone, whatever their political persuasion. We had a send-off for him when he and his wife left Williamstown — they wanted to be nearer to their two daughters on the other side of town."

Mr. Alex Knight, MLC, and a former Williamstown councillor before election to Parliament, said Mr. Lovegrove was a very able, dedicated councillor.

"In short, he was a hell of a decent bloke."

"Nothing was ever too much trouble for Frank," Mr. Lovegrove, who had cancer, leaves a wife, daughters Marion and Dorothy, and a son, John. He had three grandchildren.

His funeral was held at St. James' Presbyterian Church in Box Hill South, and later at the Springvale Crematorium.

The family asked for no flowers, but for gifts to the Anti-Cancer Council, "if desired".

The hours when they prang

Fifty accidents involving light poles and signal pedestals have occurred in Millers Road, Altona, in the past 10 years.

Mr. J. W. Hansen, Altona's traffic officer, told likely to have imbibed well, if not wisely," Mr. Hansen said.

No accidents have been reported on Mondays. The heaviest accident days of the week were Friday and Saturday.

"During the period 6 a.m. to 9 a.m., which covers the peak morning period, only one accident has been reported."

"Between 4 p.m. and 6 p.m., which is the peak afternoon and evening period, only two accidents occurred."

"Briefly, during periods when there is the greatest volume of traffic in Millers Road, only three accidents out of 50 involving light poles and pedestals were reported."

"The greatest number of accidents were on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights."

"It is apparent that the drinking habits of drivers in Millers Road has a far greater result on accident statistics than does the shape of median kerbing along the road," Mr. Hansen added.

COME FLY KITES BY THE SEA

An afternoon of competition kite-flying will be held on The Esplanade at Williamstown on Sunday, October 24.

The day is being run by the Williamstown Conservation Society as a passive recreation community project.

And the afternoon will not be restricted to children... the society says all ages are welcome to take part.

Prizes will be presented for the most original, most colorful, largest, smallest, to the oldest and youngest flier. No entry or admission fees will be charged.

Music from bands will play throughout the afternoon, and barbecue facilities are available.

The competition will be held on the beach area between Giffard and Thompson Streets.

The Society says that if the weather on the 24th is "shocking", the event will be postponed to the following Sunday, October 31.

Livewire salesman kicks on

John Marks (pictured right) part-owner and manager of Marks', Ferguson Street, Williamstown, could be described as one of the district's livewires.

His electrical and sporting goods store is doing great business but John has also given much of his time to other activities in Williamstown.

For three years he was president of the Williamstown Light Opera Company and he was also a foundation president of the Williamstown Conservation and Town Planning Society.

John is still a member of the group and the Williamstown Jaycees, but no longer holds any office.

"I got married two years ago and with increased business at the store I found it just too time-consuming to continue as president of the groups," John explained.

At the same time, he said, it was important to remain interested in activities in the community.

"I feel when you live in the area and own a business you have got to become involved," he argued.

John's wife, Vicki, (also in the Williamstown Light Opera Company) and brother Don are also in the business.

Don looks after the electrical side, including color TVs which have been a big boost to the business.

In fact, according to John, the color TV boom was the main reason they moved shop earlier this year from Nelson Place to Ferguson Street.

"We just outgrew the last place," he explained.

"The big turnover in color TVs has been the main factor in helping us to move here."

Before moving, John had operated in Nelson Place for 15 years — first in a secondhand shop with his father, Geoff, and later with his brother in an electrical business.

At first, they concentrated on marine equipment, probably because their father used to run a boating business, but later became more diversified.

Now they sell just about everything — from big electrical goods like freezers and color TVs to wet suits and fishing rods.

John said this was one of the main reasons for their success.

"We've always got a line moving; if it's summer we might sell a lot of fishing rods and motor mowers, in winter we might sell more TVs.

"It works out much better than just being specialists."

John said another reason for their current success was their policies on selling.

"We compete with bulk stores price-wise but we don't use high-pressure tactics for a sale."

"My father told me that it's better to get a lot of little bites from a customer than just one big one and that's what we try to do."

"Williamstown people like to shop locally but it's important that you have a good reputation."

John and Vicki live above the shop, which has its good and bad points.

The living quarters are very spacious but John gets the feeling that he's stuck with the business 24 hours a day.

"People know I'm there and I keep getting after-hours calls for fuses and things."

John said he also has a problem with the name of the store which is simply "Marks."

"People keep saying Marks what?" he complained.

"I try telling them that Myers doesn't have a second name but in the end I usually add something like Electrical Goods' to the name."

My City

VERA WELLS

Altona

What a relief it is to see the tidy aesthetically-pleasing effect the planting of trees and grass has given to the Altona railway station surrounds.

It was certainly overdue . . .

The old station has not really altered much since my family first came to Altona. The platform in those days was wooden, only a few feet longer than the buildings, which are now very slightly altered.

I recall how often when the small train had an extra carriage in tow and we were in it we would have to wait for the first section of the train to empty before the last carriage could move in beside the platform.

The old engine used to have to shunt around to the other end for the journey back to Newport, and a favorite pastime for us youngsters was watching to see if it would jump the points and go off the rails.

That was quite a common occurrence, believe me.

After a Sunday or a holiday in the summer, we would hunt around beneath the station for money dropped through the wooden planks of the platform by the crowds who travelled to the beach.

The only lighting at night in those days was by kerosene lamps, one near the ticket window and one by the women's toilets.

The day the first electric train ran on the Altona line in 1926, the town celebrated.

The school children sang a song especially written by a Mr. Piper, and then a ribbon across the tracks was cut by Mrs. Murphy, wife of the progress association president.

A large marquee offering afternoon tea, sweets and drinks was set up on the land where the State Savings Bank now stands. And that night a concert was held in the old progress hall, the Baptist Church.

Since then, the only progress, apart from the recent planting, seems to have been the lengthening of the platform.

LAURIE SLEE

Williamstown

Some time ago My City had a paragraph on Emergencies, and received the reply that we are OK for all the emergencies we recognise. Disasters for individuals can be coped with.

The daily newspapers tell us of disasters we were not equipped to handle — earthquakes and all they involve.

Earthquakes can happen anywhere. They may be more likely to happen some place else but they can happen near here, make no mistake about that.

The Philippines are awfully close to Australia.

China is not so far away. Adelaide and Hobart have each had rumblings from time to time. It could happen here.

Our life style, while it is a source of great comfort to us is also fraught with real danger. Our comfort is very fragile.

My City doesn't want to cause panic but there is a difference between being somewhat prepared and being asleep.

Our city can be a part of the national-emergency organisation that is trying to be so prepared.

Only the will of the people is lacking, and this paragraph is simply a pinprick to see if anyone is awake.

West to get branch of Welfare Dept

A new regional centre of the Department of Social Welfare will be established soon in the western suburbs.

Big meeting of ethnic groups

More than 150 people attended the Western Region Community Relations Committee annual meeting at Footscray Town Hall last Thursday night.

The committee has representation from 38 ethnic groups in the western region.

It was formed, to quote its president, Mrs. Adelaide Bernad, "to identify needs common to all migrants and to establish those links, mechanisms and structures which would eventually propose effective solutions for areas of disadvantage."

Guest speaker at the meeting was Mr. N. Brennan, of the Good Neighbour Council.

Mr. Brennan stressed the important contribution migrants could make to the community and to the multicultural nature of Australian society.

This aspect was clearly pointed out in the election of office-bearers, who represent a broad cross-section of the migrant population in the western suburbs.

The Minister for Social Welfare, Mr. Dixon, has told Mr. Tom Edmunds, MLA, of the planned move.

The establishment of the branch will be controlled by the director of regional services in the department, Mr. David Green.

Mr. Dixon told Mr. Edmunds that the branch would be established over the next three to six months, but pointed out that development depended on suitable staff and office space being available.

He said the aim was to make the full range of his department's services more readily available to those who needed them.

VIKINGS HEAD FOR FDFL

The Western Suburbs Football League has given the Altona City Football Club permission to withdraw their two open age teams from the league.

This has left the way open for the Vikings to apply for admission to the Footscray District Football League next season.

After having won six out of the past seven division 1 premierships in the WSEL, the Altona boys will now seek a chance to prove themselves in the more even competition of the FDFL.

Apart from a minor slump in 1974, when they lost some games and finished in third place, the Vikings have completely dominated the competition.

They were undefeated champions in 1972, 1975 and lost only one game in 1973 and this season.

It is hard to retain the enthusiasm of players when they know they will win by big margins almost every week.

The club will need to find a coach to replace Mal Tisdale, who has announced his retirement after winning five premierships in his six years of coaching.

The Vikings annual meeting will be held at the Grant Reserve pavilion at 10 a.m. on November 21.

Danny's champ

Ruck-rover Danny Brennan has won the Vikings' top award, the Harry Edwards trophy for club champion.

Danny has played 99 games with the team, and his win was a great effort considering he missed six games in mid-season.

Winner of the second division best and fairest award was Stephen Grainger.

He also missed games early in the season through injury.

The awards were presented at the club's trophy night on October 1.

Details: Club champion, Danny Brennan; runner-up, Glen Morgan; Most consistent, Andrew Donnelly; most determined, Jack Roosenboom and Gordon Wilson; best utility player, Robin Morgan; most creative, Alan Walters; most improved, Mick O'Connor; best in finals, Danny Brennan. A special trophy went to Andrew Donnelly for his 110 goals in his first season of open age football.

Division 2: Best and fairest, Stephen Grainger; runner-up, Stephen Shiels and Edi Puhar; most determined, Wayne Gardner; most improved, Ian Scott; best first year, Stephen Shiels; best utility, Don Hyett; best in finals, Joe O'Connor.

Senior captain coach, Mal Tisdale, who announced his retirement, was presented with a gold watch, and Morrie Tisdale, club secretary and captain-coach of division 2, was given a set of silver goblets by the players.

President of the women's auxiliary, Mrs. Alan Burkitt, and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Morrie Tisdale, presented a cheque for $1220 to the club.

Seagull's Under-13 stars

• THIS Williamstown Under-13 team has not been beaten for two seasons. Their best and fairest this year was John Barnett, a Williamstown High School student. He also won the competition award.

Rain saves Seagulls

Rain washed out Williamstown's sub-district cricket game against Malvern at the week-end and saved them from what looked like being a humiliating loss.

Instead they receive three points for a draw.

Next Saturday, and the following Sunday (October 24), Williamstown Firsts will play Geelong at Kardina Park.

Geelong beat Williamstown easily in their last match at Kardina Park.

Graeme Rawlins will describe the Geelong game from 3GL.

The Seconds will play at home and the Thirds will meet Port Melbourne at the Fearon Reserve.
